I am training a linear regression model and I find that there are some models where I do not need to log transform the data. Since the linear regression model has a straight line in it, it should also be possible to fit the model using the raw data? A: I found this paper by Rüger and Bühlmann that seems to cover exactly what you are looking for. On page 15 they state that you can use: the log-transformed versions of x and y as an alternative to those variables directly, as logarithmic transformation has the property that it has the same scaling properties as linear regression. This is exactly what you are looking for and is also the reason why when you take log of the data, the values become uniformly distributed. Q: The form data 'firstName' is required when not required before So I am working on an online form and I need to have a validation that requires a field to be completed if it is not required but before that I have a field I have to change its readonly property to true. However it doesn't work when I try that and I'm not quite sure what it is I need to change to make it work. Here is the code:

What's New in the Soft Scraps?

Best of all, this simple and clean icon pack is just 100KB, for Windows XP to Windows 10. The icon set has been tested in Windows 7, Windows 8, Windows 8.1, Windows 10, Windows Server 2003, Windows Server 2008, Windows Server 2008 R2, Windows Server 2012, and Windows Server 2012 R2. Icon pack provided: 150+ Stock OSIcons. Icon size: 128 x 128px. Hint: These icons were created for Windows 7 and Windows 8 using Microsoft Icon Maker. Note: Some icons may not be added to pack when it is being exported to 512x512. Any time you are done with all your projects, or just need to start fresh, you can always remove all of the icon assets from your project to delete them from your computer. No more worry about adding these icons to the pack or only being able to export them to 512 x 512. Check this out! It's our version of an entirely new collection of usable icon (128 x 128) graphics. We took a fresh set of 50 icons from some of the most popular design applications out there to create a fantastic set of icons. Here's what you'll find in it: The Scraps icon pack is ideal for graphic designers, mobile developers and anybody looking for a crisp set of icons to use in their projects. And, don't worry, the designs are very simple and clean, and aren't to'scrawsy' or 'designy' looking, so you'll be able to use them without the fear that they'll overwhelm the design. We're especially happy to have been able to include a good selection of icons for Microsoft Word, Microsoft Excel, Microsoft PowerPoint, Adobe Photoshop, Adobe Illustrator, and Adobe Fireworks. There's also two generic shapes of arrows (top-right and bottom-right), a heart, a globe, a wreath, a bicycle, and a few illustrations of badges, signs and some icons. These new icons are super easy to use, and, we've been working on the files since we launched the product, so we've taken the time to clean up any badness that may be in the vector file. We expect these vectors to work for most applications out there. We've even included an extra file called Export 1.psd, which contains all of the icon files in a Photoshop file. We've included an example of how you could use these icons in the preview file, too, so you can see exactly how they can be used for your projects. It's important to note that you can get these icons for free. This is the actual image, not a copy or a preview. We don't have any hidden sales or advertising elements, and we don't allow any third-party downloads. So,
