KeyMacro application enables a user to play a recording of a keyboard or key sequences on a specific computer. Users can run macros using a keyboard or, if necessary, a computer joystick. To do so, the application reads the specified sequence from a file and performs the corresponding actions on a computer keyboard. KeyMacro can save macros on disk or perform functions in batch mode. To perform a task you will need to enter a command and a password. The source of macros is a recording of your keystrokes. The software then uses a specific keyboard driver to translate the recorded keystrokes into a special format.
