It was clearly declared in the CSP that the participant was unable to do PA due to severe physical impairment. Unfortunately, however, the data on the method in which the CSP collected this information was unavailable. Vitamin D {#Sec12} ----- The measurement of serum 25(OH)D, which is a valid biomarker of vitamin D status, was performed at baseline in the EDIC in 1992--1996, 1996--2000, and 2001--2007 \[@CR6\]. In the EDIC, no laboratory test was performed to assess serum 25(OH)D level, the assessment of physical activity was only conducted on a group of participants. However, in the DIALOG cohort, serum 25(OH)D levels were measured in 2006 and 2008 \[@CR7\]. Although the measurement of 25(OH)D in the DIALOG cohort was made in different years, these data were also more than 2 years apart from the EPIC-Italy study. Although the number of participants in the DIALOG study was significantly smaller than in EPIC-Italy, the study on vitamin D and fracture risk is still important because the DIALOG study has been shown to be a strong and consistent predictor of bone loss in European adults \[@CR8\]. The greater number of participants in the EPIC-Italy study could explain the lack of a significant association of 25(OH)D with fracture risk. Although in the EPIC-Italy study, the 25(OH)D levels were not associated with fracture risk, among participants with low 25(OH)D (less than 30 nmol/L), both high and low calcium intake showed a significant inverse association with fracture risk. We may assume H intersects E_{λ} transversally in at least one point p . Then one can find a small neighborhood \mathcal{U} of p in M such that the intersection between E_{λ} and H lies in $\mathcal{U} \setminus H$ and H is embedded in \mathcal{U} . Then $X \cap (\mathcal{U} \setminus H)$ is a $\mathbb{C}P^1$ -bundle over D_{λ} . Since $X \cap H$ is embedded in M , $X \cap (\mathcal{U} \setminus H)$ has some
