Adobe Photoshop 2021 (Version 22.5.1) With Serial Key [Mac/Win]

Photoshop is a very powerful program with many, many features, so you should know the ones you want to use. Understanding how to use the features can be as simple as taking a class or reading a few tutorials. Making selections and editing with layers In essence, Photoshop is a drawing program and the most basic elements of an image are like the lines, shapes, and colors that artists use in paintings. Because of this, Photoshop includes a bunch of painting tools — in fact, 20 separate tools known collectively as the tools palette — that can be applied to either a raster or vector image. Using painting tools, you can paint on the image, creating selections that create new regions (see the sidebar in this section). After a new region is created, you can edit it using layers and masks (a special type of transparency applied over a path in a layer). When you edit a layer, the layer itself has no impact on the image, but it only defines a new region in the image. You can apply effects, such as drop shadows, to the new region. When you create a layer, you can merge it with another layer, reposition it, or create a clone of the layer. You can also move the layer between layers. If you copy a layer, that layer and the original layers become separate layers. You can move a layer and all the layers that it creates by clicking the Move tool on the Paths toolbox or in the Tools panel and then dragging the layer to the desired location. Layers are extremely important when you're editing an image. Without them, you can't manipulate the image without disturbing the other parts of it. You can use the Layer Options dialog box to modify the behavior of layers (as shown in Figure 1-1). Illustration by Wiley, Composition by Annette Savko Figure 1-1: Use the Layer Options dialog box to customize the behavior of layers. You can move and resize layers and check or uncheck Layer Mask boxes to hide or show them. You can also merge layers. You can create a visible layer and hide it or create a layer and show it while merging a visible layer with it. Figure 1-2 shows a simple layered image. In the tools palette, the Paint bucket tool is used to create a selection. The selection is shown as a filled area in the image. The initial selection is shown in the Layers panel on the left side of the image. The selection

[Quality of life in patients with urothelial carcinoma of the upper urinary tract treated with cisplatin-based neoadjuvant chemotherapy or radical nephroureterectomy]. To assess the effect of treatment on the quality of life in patients with newly diagnosed non-metastatic upper urothelial carcinoma treated with cisplatin-based neoadjuvant chemotherapy or radical nephroureterectomy. The medical records of 33 patients with newly diagnosed non-metastatic upper urothelial carcinoma, including 25 men and eight women, treated with cisplatin-based neoadjuvant chemotherapy (15 patients) or radical nephroureterectomy (eight patients) between January 2000 and December 2010, were reviewed retrospectively. A questionnaire was given to the patients at the last follow-up for assessing the quality of life with the European Organization for Research and Treatment of Cancer Quality of Life Core Questionnaire (EORTC QLQ-C30), that consists of five domains (physical, role, emotional, cognitive, and social), and also the EORTC QLQ-BLM30 that consists of two domains (body image and sexual function). The questionnaire was administered to the patients between August 2012 and December 2012. For statistical analysis, SPSS software version 16 was used. The mean age at diagnosis was 69.39±9.79 years and 23 patients (69.7%) had T2 and 5 patients (15.2%) had T1 tumors. The median follow-up was 31.95 (13.75-74.04) months. Thirteen patients were treated with neoadjuvant chemotherapy alone, ten patients underwent radical nephroureterectomy and 10 patients (with 15 tumors) underwent neoadjuvant chemotherapy combined with radical nephroureterectomy. The most frequent adverse events were: leukopenia (19.7%) and thrombocytopenia (19.7%). No patient had febrile neutropenia or severe adverse effects. However, 1 patient (3.0%) had severe sepsis with bacteremia and septic shock after radical nephroureterectomy. The median scores for each domain of the QLQ-C30 were as follows: physical function, 78.00 (67.50-90.00); role function, 75.00 (35.00-100.00); emotional function
