Primary support for the subproject and the subproject's principal investigator may have been provided by other sources, including other NIH sources. The Total Cost listed for the subproject likely represents the estimated amount of Center infrastructure utilized by the subproject, not direct funding provided by the NCRR grant to the subproject or subproject staff. The goal of this project is to test the use of [unreadable]-glucuronidase, and the subsequently generated BMP4 and BMP7, to promote osteogenesis in rodent models, and compare the results to any positive effect from the use of Zoledronic acid.Q: how to access a usb device on linux? I am trying to access my Android phone through a USB cable to get the device serial number. I am using the Linux shell. I am using: adb devices (I have also tried adb remount) I can get the serial number if I connect the device on the Windows shell running Windows 8, but I cannot access it through a Linux shell (mint 14 Cinnamon). A: I just ran into the same issue. My phone was working fine on Windows 7, but not on Mint. I tried running the adb devices command as well as adb remount, but they returned nothing. I had to find the vendor id and product id for my phone through a Windows 7 command prompt and paste it in the following way: adb -d -P So, I did the following: In a terminal, open an "adb shell" adb shell then adb -d 0
